

Lakshmi, a young widow, works hard to make her business success for the sake of her children!

Laxmi Kulkarni lost her husband to heart attack in 2007. Being a housewife, she was totally lost and was unable to come to terms with her husband's demise. Though she got a compensation of Rs.8 Lacs from her husband's office it was spent in no time repaying the house loan. She and her two children were able to save the house but had no money to spare for other expenses.

She underwent training to stitch cloth bags at RAPID and had started selling them to her relatives and friends. After her training at an I Create Workshop she has learnt the nuances of business and is trying to use the knowledge to make her business a successful venture.

Though she is struggling to make ends meet , she is working hard to provide for her children's education as both her children are very good in studies and she did not want to deprive them of their bright future.

I Create India has helped her with Rs.20,000 from MAGIC Fund to buy a sewing Machine and raw materials.
